Mechanical was on board for the construction of a $30 Million hospital built for the city of Galena in 2006/2007. The state of the art hospital measures approximately 120,000 square feet and offers many inpatient and outpatient services for the community that did not exist beforehand.

We were responsible for the plumbing and HVAC work, including chilled and hot water heating. Our CAD department provided very detailed coordination, fabrication, and installation drawings for the project.

Prefabrication and installation were completed in our Freeport fabrication shop allowing us to save time in the field.

The project began on November 21, 2006 and was completed in just 11 months. Due to the aggressive schedule, coordination between trades was critical.
